

ABSTRACTSELECTION FUNCTION IN A COMMUNICATION TERMINAL

- 5 The invention concerns a communication terminal having a function for searching available menu items of the menu structure in the communication terminal. The function includes a processor controlling the communication terminal and a user interface through which the user communicates to the processor. The processor also analyses the search criteria entered by a user and presents a list of matching
- 10 menu items so that the user can select the wanted menu item.

T05260" BEE19660